Using the Purpose-Audience-Context-Tone framework to guide Generative AI prompt-writing

How to write good prompts

- State PURPOSES clearly

- Recall: "Purpose" refers to "Why am I making this video?" OR "What is the video for?"
 - “to advertise”
 - “to sell”
 - “to raise awareness”
 - “to educate”
 - “to attract potential investors/ raise funds”

How to write good prompts

- Narrow down your AUDIENCE

- Recall: The target audience is often a mix of people from different demographics bound by a few commonalities, including age group, gender, ethnicity/nationality, occupation, social-economic class, religion, and even interests and lifestyles, such as veganism/ animal rights activism/ minimalism/ athleticism and so on
 - “for the general public in Singapore”
 - “for investors from America”
 - “for 10-year-olds in Myanmar”

How to write good prompts

- Set your CONTEXT

- Recall: "Context" is about the relevance/currency of your content + the Perspective you are crafting the message from.
 - About YOU: "I am a first-year student in a Singaporean polytechnic studying a Diploma in _____. My lecturer has asked me to _____. My video will be posted by the Ministry of _____ if it is selected."
 - About the CURRENT SITUATION: "My project is supposed to promote sustainability, especially for UN SDG _____. I need to showcase the PROBLEM of _____ that we currently face."
 - About the TASK FORMAT: "The video should be under _____ minutes long. It should be supported on social media platforms like _____."

How to write good prompts

- Decide on the TONE needed

- The "tone" should be decided based on your PAC. It refers to how you would like the video to "sound", and the feeling you would like it to leave your audience.
- “Use a sincere tone”
- “I want to sound concerned”
- “It needs to be persuasive”
- “It should not be too formal”
- “I want to come off as friendly”
- “It should sound warm”
- “I would like to include humour”

Example of AI-generated Script (Gemini)

Help me with writing a script for a 1-minute-long video promoting the School of Business in Singapore Polytechnic to potential students who are 16 to 21 years old. The video should be supported on social media platforms. I would like to include humour in my video. The tone of the script should be persuasive yet warm.

Scene 1 (15 seconds)

Visuals: Split-screen. On one side, a teenager sleeps peacefully in bed. On the other side, a bustling cityscape with skyscrapers and people rushing by.

Sound: Upbeat, energetic music plays.

Narrator (voiceover, friendly and enthusiastic):

Ever dream of going from snooze-ville to success-ville?

Scene 2 (15 seconds)

Is the Tone of the video warm?

Scene 2 (15 seconds)

Visuals: The teenager wakes up with a jolt, a look of panic on their face. They scramble around their room, throwing clothes on and rushing out the door with a piece of toast in their mouth.

Sound: Slapstick sound effects (alarm clock blaring, toast slapping on the floor)

Narrator:

Yeah, adulting can be a bit chaotic.

Scene 3 (15 seconds)

Visuals: The teenager, now smartly dressed, confidently walks through the halls of a modern university building. They interact with other students, high-fiving and laughing.

Is humour being used suitably (Tone) for your particular audience/ in this context?

Sound: Upbeat music continues, with a more positive and collaborative feel.

Narrator:

But what if you could get a head start without all the stress?

Scene 4 (15 seconds)

Visuals: A montage of students from the School of Business at Singapore Polytechnic. They're in classrooms, participating in workshops, practicing presentations, and having fun at networking events.

Narrator:

At Singapore Polytechnic's School of Business, we'll equip you with the skills and knowledge to thrive in the real world. From marketing to finance, accounting to entrepreneurship, we've got everything you need to become a business rockstar.

Is the Message relevant and interesting/useful for the audience?
Does it persuade the right audience
to join the school?

Scene 5 (15 seconds)

Visuals: Close-up shot of a happy student in a graduation gown, shaking hands with a proud professor.

Narrator:

Graduate with a diploma that opens doors to exciting careers.

Scene 6 (5 seconds)

Visuals: Text on screen: "Stop hitting snooze. Start your success story. Apply now!" with the Singapore Polytechnic logo.

Narrator:

Don't wait! Applications are open.

Call to action (on screen): Visit our website for more info! (link to website)

Is the Call-to-Action clear enough?

Call to action (on screen): Visit our website for more info! (link to website)

Music fades out with a flourish.

Additional Notes:

- Consider adding subtitles for social media platforms where sound might be off by default.
- You can adjust the humor and visuals to fit the specific platform (e.g., faster cuts for TikTok, longer scenes for YouTube).

Is the Call-to-Action clear enough?

Generating Ideas

Can you give me some ideas for how to create a hook for a social media video, within the first 3 seconds?

View other drafts

Absolutely! Those first 3 seconds are crucial for grabbing attention in the fast-paced world of social media. Here are some ideas to hook your viewers:

Intrigue and Curiosity:

- Start with a shocking statement or question: "I just discovered the secret behind happiness..." or "Would you believe me if I told you I got fired and it was the best thing ever?"
- Drop a cliffhanger: Show a dramatic scene without context, like someone running away or tears rolling down a cheek.
- Present a surprising statistic or fact: "Did you know 80% of people..."

Humor and Entertainment:

- Open with a funny joke or relatable meme: Everyone loves a good laugh, especially at the beginning of a video.
- Use unexpected sounds or visual gags: A loud crash, a pet doing something hilarious, or a quick costume change can make viewers stop scrolling.
- Start with a catchy dance move or energetic action: Show your viewers you're bringing the fun right from the start.

Emotional Connection:

- Share a vulnerable moment or personal story: People connect with authenticity. Briefly share something relatable that draws viewers in.
- Highlight a common struggle or challenge: Address a problem your audience faces and promise a solution in the video.
- Show a heartwarming interaction or act of kindness: Warm the hearts of your viewers and leave them wanting more.

Additional Tips:

- Use strong visuals and eye-catching colors: Make your video visually appealing from the first frame.
- Add text overlays or captions for clarity: Especially helpful for silent videos or quick cuts.
- Leverage popular music or sound effects: Choose tunes that match your video's theme and energy.
- End the 3 seconds with a call to action: Tell viewers what to do next, whether it's watching the rest of the video, liking, commenting, or following you.

Remember, the best hook is one that aligns with your content and target audience. Test different approaches and see what resonates best with your viewers. Good luck!

I hope these ideas inspire you to create some killer social media video hooks! Let me know if you have any other questions.
